Academic integrity in Canada: An author panel for this important new book

Josh Seeland (moderator), Assiniboine Community College
Sarah Elaine Eaton, University of Calgary
Brenda M. Stoesz, University of Manitoba
Silvia Rossi, Mount Royal University
Karla Wolski, Lethbridge College
Melanie Hamilton, Lethbridge College

Abstract

“Academic integrity in Canada: An enduring and essential challenge” is an open-access book recently published by Springer as part of the series “Ethics and Integrity in Educational Contexts”. Edited by scholars Sarah Elaine Eaton and Julia Christensen Hughes, it contains over 600 pages in 31 chapters designed to address the gap in Canada’s study and evidence-based recommendations involving academic integrity. The book is divided into five sections: Canadian context, emerging and prevalent forms of academic misconduct, integrity within specific learning environments and professional programs, barriers and catalysts to academic integrity: multiple perspectives and supports, and institutional responses. In this moderated panel session, several chapter authors as well as Sarah Elaine Eaton will delve into specific aspects of their contributions towards the book. Through the open question and discussion segment, attendees will be inspired to contribute in their own institutional roles towards provincial and, ultimately, the growing Canadian academic integrity community.

Keywords: academic integrity, academic misconduct, college, Indigenization, paraphrasing, university