ariel is a journal focused on the critical and scholarly study of literatures in English around the world. The journal publishes original articles in postcolonial studies exploring colonial power and resistance as well as innovative scholarship on globalization, new forms and sites of exploitation and colonization in an age of transnational capitalism, displacement and diaspora studies, global ecocriticism, cultural and cross-cultural translation, and related areas. The journal especially encourages articles that do not just offer a close reading of a text or set of texts but that use that close reading to intervene in a scholarly conversation.

SUBSCRIPTIONS. All questions related to subscriptions, orders, advertising, and distribution should be addressed to the press; please consult the JHU Web site and/or contact the administrative office. Articles should not exceed 9,000 words and should follow the current edition of the MLA Handbook for Writers of Research Papers or The MLA Style Manual. All articles are refereed blind (authorship unattributed) by at least two readers; consequently, names of contributors should appear only on the title page of manuscripts and not as a running head on each page. Submit manuscripts to the online web site at <www.ariel.ucalgary.ca>. Please submit documents as Microsoft Word files or rich text format. An abstract and keywords must be provided. The editors require assurance that authors are not offering their articles concurrently elsewhere. Translations should be provided for citations in languages other than French. The editors reserve the right to amend phrasing and punctuation in articles and reviews accepted for publication. Opinions expressed in contributions are those of the authors and do not necessarily reflect the views of the editors, the editorial board, or the publisher.
