

Notes on Contributors

GISELA ARGYLE studied German literature at the Universities of Göttingen and Munich and English literature at Leeds and York, Ontario. At present she is writing a book on German elements in Victorian fiction.

ANNE FARRELL BAILIE has taught in Naples, Italy and Sapporo, Japan. She is an Associate Professor of English at Bloomfield College, New Jersey.

ROBERT CLAYTON CASTO teaches English at York University, Toronto. He has poems published in Quarry, Yale Quarterly Review and other journals and has one book, A Strange and Fitful Land.

PIER GIORGIO DI CICCIO was born in Italy and his books include We Are The Light Turning, From the Wrong Side of the Bed and The Circular Dark.

BARBARA GATES is Assistant Professor of English at the University of Delaware. She has articles published on Wordsworth, Coleridge, Charlotte Brontë and Dylan Thomas and is working on a book on the Victorians.

ROB JACKAMAN, a Cambridge graduate, is a resident of New Zealand and lectures on modern poetry at Canterbury University, Christchurch.

J. Z. KRONENFELD has a Ph.D. from Stamford University and has taught at the Riverside and Irvine campuses of the University of California.

MARIANNE NICHOLS is Assistant Professor of English at Rutgers University and has articles published on Paradise Lost and the Aeneid and on Joyce's Ulysses.

JOHN OWER, a graduate of the Universities of Calgary and Alberta, is Assistant Professor of English at the University of South Carolina. He has had critical articles and poetry published in a number of magazines including Twentieth Century Literature, Canadian Literature and Sewanee Review.

SANFORD PINSKER is Associate Professor of English at Franklin and Marshall, Lancaster, Pa. His poetry has appeared in a number of journals including Harper's and New York Times. He has published a chapbook, Still Life and Other Poems and a critical book on Philip Roth.