

Notes on Contributors

SUSAN ANDREWS is a quiltmaker and lives in Saskatoon. She has published in many literary periodicals and anthologies in Canada and Great Britain.

KATERYNA ARTHUR has edited, with James Acheson, Samuel Beckett's Later Fiction and Drama: Texts for Company (Macmillan, 1986). She teaches at Murdoch University, Western Australia.

RUDOLF BADER teaches and carries out research at the University of Berne, Switzerland. He has published widely on Canadian and Australian literatures.

DIANA BRYDON is Associate Professor at the University of British Columbia. Her Christina Stead appeared in 1987 (Macmillan).

DIANE FAHEY lives in South Australia. Her collection, Voices from the Honeycomb, was published by Jacaranda Press in 1986.

MARGERIE FEE teaches at Queen's University and has published widely in Canadian literature.

STEVEN HEIGHTON is a graduate student at Queen's University. He has published poems in several Canadian journals.

JOHN V. HICKS of Prince Albert, Saskatchewan, is the author of five volumes of poetry and a well-established presence in Canadian letters.

JOAN HOOGLAND is a graduate student at the University of Calgary. Her poetry has been published by several Canadian journals.

CORAL ANN HOWELLS has published essays on (among others) Wiebe, Thomas, Laurence and Findley. Her Private and Fictional Worlds: Canadian Women Novelists of the 1970's and 80's was issued by Methuen in 1987. She teaches at the University of Reading.

AVIS G. MCDONALD teaches at the University of New South Wales. Her present interests include the comparative study of Australian and West Indian fiction.

SELWYN PRITCHARD has published poems and stories in the U.K., Australia, New Zealand and Canada.

ROBERT ROSS edits Antipodes, the journal of the American Association of Australian Literary Studies. He lives in Texas.

ELAINE J. ZINKHAN is a Canadian "Australianist" at the University of Queensland. She has published articles on Australian writing.