

Whitehead's Theory

for Darren, Baylee and Lauren

by Jeffrey Burton

Trading free time
for times tables
and passion
for precision
sometimes it takes structured instruction
to expand beyond
instinctive creativity

Summer Sonnets

by Jeffrey Burton

The August days
Slowly fade off
The calendar...
Flying past between eyeblinks
The notes of summer's sonnets Soaring high
And
Crashing headlong
Into September's
Textbook days

School's coming...
Are YOU ready?

Jeffrey Burton recently graduated with a B.Ed. from the University of Saskatchewan. He lives in Humboldt with his wife and 5 children, and is currently a substitute teacher. He has one self-published book of poetry, Bits from the Boldt, and is currently working on his second self-published collection, Hold Life Still.